

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.

ROSSER & MCCARTHY,
Proprietors.

TUESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 14, 1886.

BURCHETT, of Lawrence, is on hand with a goodly number of his followers.

The "faithful" members of the C. O. P. are a numerous quantity on our streets today.

The statement from the "State of Lewis" doesn't want the nomination for Congress. So the report goes.

The impression prevails that the honor will fall to Burchett or Worthington in the Republican convention now in session.

The Republicans of the Tenth district have put up W. L. Hurst, of Wolf County, against Hon. Pres. Taubee. Hurst hasn't been heard of very much outside of his district.

The Southern Ohio Monitor is the latest of journalistic ventures at Georgetown—H. C. Newcombe, editor and publisher. It is bright and new, and starts out as a red-hot anti-liquor organ.

The Republicans in the district across the river admit that General Denver, the Democratic nominee, is a man of "unquestioned integrity and fine ability." That's the sort of men the Democrats seem to be putting forward this year.

What's the matter anyhow? There isn't a single Republican in this district who seems particularly anxious to make the race for Congress this fall. Perhaps they all realize what's in store for them, and do not care to lead a hopeless cause.

Hon. JAMES B. MCCREARY, of the Eighth district, isn't going to have a walk-over for Congress, but he will get there all the same. The Republicans have called a convention for October 5th at Danville, and will probably nominate Gen. Landrum, of Lancaster.

Our neighbor, the Sunday Morning Call, in alluding to the nomination of Judge Wall, says "it was a wise choice" and adds: "He has every element necessary to succeed. His Democracy is unquestioned, and he therefore has to make none of those embarrassing explanations so frequent with candidates, and his personal character is spotless and above reproach. With his energy, industry and ability, his success is certain."

The Republican convention to nominate a candidate for Congress in this district will meet at the court house this afternoon. The following is the number of delegates to which each county is entitled:

Bath	1
Bracken	9
Boyle	13
Carter	14
Fleming	15
Greenup	12
Johnson	11
Lewis	11
Lawrence	12
Nelson	4
Nichols	4
Martin	4
Robertson	2
Rowan	2

Total.....151
Necessary to nominate, seventy-seven and a fraction.

Predictions count for naught. But few of the counties come instructed, and the nomination may fall where least expected. The impression prevails that the fight is between Hon. D. J. Worthington, of Lawrence, and Hon. W. J. Burchett, of Greenup, but Judge Thomas, of Lewis, is on hand, and the honor may fall to him, although it is said he is not seeking the nomination. The statement from Vanceburg, however, has the reputation of being one of the earliest politicians in the district, and Messrs. Worthington, Burchett & Co., if they are really anxious for the honor, don't want to go to napping. Since the county convention here Saturday, many predict that the nomination will be tendered to Hon. W. H. Wadsworth, the present incumbent. His intimate friends, however, say that his decision is final, and he will decline the honor, and will not be drawn into the fight again. It is as likely that the struggle will be a protracted one, and we will probably be able to announce the nominee in to-morrow's issue.

Death of General Cheatham.

Editor Bulletin: Many readers of your valuable paper, who served in the C. S. A., under Lieutenant General J. B. Hood during the campaign of Nashville in the fall of 1864, will learn with regret of the death of General B. F. Cheatham at Nashville, Tenn., on Sunday, the 5th ultimo, of heart disease.

It will be remembered by both armies that the failure of Cheatham to obey Hood's order to throw his corps aside the pile at Spring Hill on the night of November 29, 1864, saved Schofield's army and enabled it to reach Franklin in safety. After the war, when General Grant was President, he wrote to General Cheatham and asked him if he would accept an office if appointed. Cheatham declined. He felt that under the circumstances he could not accept an office from him.

General Cheatham was commissioned postmaster at Nashville last fall by President Cleveland.

Three Cheers For Wall.

Covington, Ky., Sept. 13th, 1886.
Editor Bulletin: As a former resident of the grand old county of Mason, I feel a deep interest in her welfare even after years of absence from her soil. My earlier and better friends still form an important part of the county's population, and whenever I hear of "fickle fortune" smiling upon any of them I experience a thrill of pleasure.

The nomination of my old friend, Wall, at Augusta, as a candidate for Congress stirs up recollections of the days when as a student he was laying the foundation of his career. I have known Garrett Wall long and well, and commend him to every voter in the Ninth district as a man worthy of the heartiest support. He is a man of answering integrity and is deserving of the position to which he aspires. There is nothing in his record that calls for an apology; nothing that can originate suspicion. He belongs to that young democracy upon whom rests the future influence of our state. If there is a district in the State of Kentucky where young and vigorous blood is needed at the front, it is the Ninth district. The time is opportune and the selection fortunate for the new departure. Free from the ranks of his party and thoroughly posted as to method and organization, Judge Wall should be able to introduce some new features into his canvass calculated to surprise as well as defeat whoever dares to oppose him. That he will do this I confidently expect. Let the strong influence of a perfect organization bring out every element of the Democratic party in the district and under the guidance of this young leader the path of victory will be found. Three cheers for Wall, whose election will be an honor and a boon to his constituents. Mason County alone should not be the pitiful majority that placed Mr. Wadsworth in Congress, and her own sense of justice to the district and of self respect also demand that it should be done. Defeat now means danger for all time and the Democrat who fails to vote at the coming election scarcely deserves the franchise. Hopefully yours, Nason.

Hog Cholera in Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 14.—The ravage of hog cholera in the central part of the state are a matter of serious study by those concerned. An important discovery is alleged to have been made by a farmer named Shephard, in Henry County. He had long believed that the disease is nothing but parasites or trichinae in the stomach of the hog, and to vindicate his judgment he had a post mortem examination upon a hog that died this week. With the naked eye could be seen many of these parasites in the second lining of the stomach. He communicated the fact of the discovery to the secretary of the state board of agriculture, who has referred the subject to a microscopist for examination and report.

Charge to a Grand Jury.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 14.—A sensation was caused here by the charge of Judge Wylie to the new grand jury. He caustically referred to the evil reports of bribery and forgery in connection with Franklin county politics and urged the jury, as men of honor, to investigate fully the infamously charged case of the tall sheeted stall and the charges of bribery in connection with the recent nomination of Duncan for common pleas judge.

Narrow Escape From Drowning.

LOANESBORO, Ind., Sept. 14.—The sailboat owned and sailed by F. C. Cleaver, of Terre Haute, was capsized on Lake Maunkunk, about half a mile from Culver's Landing, with six gentlemen and two ladies on board. The water was cold and the wind chilly, and it was several hours before the party was rescued by Jacob Larson and Henry Ream in rowboats, just in time to save the lives of J. W. Armstrong, of Indianapolis, and Mrs. Reynolds, of Council Bluffs.

Philadelphia's Mayor to Be Impeached.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 14.—The special councilman committee appointed to investigate the charges against Mayor William B. Smith have presented their report to a special meeting of common council. The report of the committee finds that the charges are sustained by the evidence presented before the committee, and recommends the impeachment of the mayor for malfeasance and misadministration of office.

The Western Union Cabling Their Wires.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The Western Union Telegraph set out men at work laying their wires in a cable along the Third Avenue elevated railroad. This is said to be a plan to avoid being compelled to trust wires to the city and county, while the subway commissioners are constructing. Sunday was chosen, it is alleged, because no injunction could be obtained on that day.

Pleaded Not Guilty.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—George W. Alter, the confidential clerk of the convict Henry W. Jephson, who was arrested last Thursday, and who has since confessed all his dealings and relations with the prisoner, was arraigned in the court of general sessions before Recorder Smyth. He pleaded not guilty, and was remanded to the toils.

Heavy Wind and Rain Storm.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 14.—A heavy rain and wind storm set in here about 4 o'clock Sunday evening, and continued incessantly until nearly 7. At times the rain came down in torrents, and sharp flashes of lightning and loud peals of thunder. The Jewish synagogue, on Eleventh street, was struck by what resembled a ball of fire, and one of the spires was destroyed.

Left Wall Street for $100,000 a Year.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The Times says that Howell Osborne has quit Wall street at his mother's solicitation and upon her promise to increase his financial income to $100,000. He received from his father, the late Charles J. Osborne, only $50,000 yearly, the remainder of the $140,000 of the estate going to his mother.
